

SENIOR TEAM WINS FIVE MILE RELAY

Freshman Runners Take
Second Place; Good Time
Made by Teams.

SAM LISSO WINS FAT MEN'S RACE

THE team representing the senior class won the five mile relay race run at the high school stadium Friday afternoon. Time, 25:11 2-5. The freshman team took second honors and the sophomores third. Teams were not entered by the juniors and junior high.

Personnel of the contesting teams: Freshmen—A. Eganst, D. Benham, L. Springer, W. Rindorf, R. Ashby, A. Terrance, C. Brennan, T. Talbot, S. Esquivel, R. Hunter. Sophomores—C. Corley, T. Sullivan, J. Spence, S. Higgins, Hamilton, Harlan, Moore, Llanera, Reynolds, Jones, Seniors—C. Corley, D. Eganst, J. Hill, D. Wyler, J. Flanagan, J. McCord, C. Rivera, J. Broderick, D. Stevenson, T. Culligan.

Relay Run.
The fat men's race was scarcely less exciting than the rivalry between class teams. Sam Lisso proved that it is a mistake about fat men being slow, winning the 410 yard dash in 1:24. Henry Pounds captured second honors with Jake Barons a close third. Gerald Ketchersid wasn't far behind Barons, while Winston Ross was steaming up near Ketchersid when the fat men went across the line. It is said that Lisso accepted the challenge of Fatty Aronick, the race between the two for the championship to be run off at the stadium in the near future.

Unit 305 to Meet White Sox Team

Sunday afternoon at 1:30, at the Rio Grande baseball park, the El Paso White Sox will meet the team of mechanical repair unit No. 305. The patch artists have an excellent chance of winning the pennant in the Army baseball league and have proved to be one of the strongest teams in this section. The White Sox have had a winning streak, which the Ninth engineers failed to stop last Sunday, and they believe that they will be able to add the scalp of the army boys to their belt.

The lineup for No. 305 for Sunday's game will be: Eganst (capt.), D. Benham, J. Hill, J. Flanagan, J. McCord, J. Broderick, D. Stevenson, T. Culligan. For the White Sox: Bartholomew, J. Scott, C. Jones, J. Hill, J. Flanagan, J. McCord, J. Broderick, D. Stevenson, T. Culligan.

"Wahoo" Crawford Roosts Near Home

Samuel Wahoo Crawford, after defeating the question all winter and receiving several major league offers, which were not sufficient to draw him from California, signed a contract to play the outfield for the Los Angeles club on March 25, which day hereafter will be celebrated as holiday in the Angel City by the fans.

A week before a son had been born to the household of Crawford and that probably is the chief reason why he made up his mind to play close to his own home. The big show has shown few players more popular or famous than the Wahoo barber, and the best wishes of the fans go with him for many years of power and fat batting averages in the minors.

NOT RELY ON BUT SYSTEM

Believes in Slugging to Bring in the Runs; One
Run Often Wins.

REMEMBERS THE BALTO ORIOLES

HOUSTON, Tex., April 12.—Manager McGraw is evidently going to rely this season on his power bats, as his players slugging the ball, instead of having them follow the sacrifice bunt system.

In the first Giants-Cleveland Indians game in Dallas on Thursday, the Giants' first batter up in three innings reached first base, and even when one run would have put the National league champions in the lead, an attempt was made by the next batter to advance the man on base by the sacrifice bunt.

The "hop 'em off their shins" system has been McGraw's plan for years. The veteran manager is determined to win a while and adopting the sacrifice, the Giants would win many more games.

Hard Hitters.
The Giants are a strong hitting team and were never more so than at present. Doubtless McGraw is determined to work that valuable asset to the limit. It is quite frequently happened, however, that the team is up against a pitcher whom they cannot hit, try they will. Then it seems reasonable that the players should be ordered to play for and above the plate.

On one occasion McGraw was ordered to play for and above the plate where he can score on a less hit.

One Run Means Many Games.
One run in an inning will win many a game, and McGraw is determined to win the series in the least possible time.

The Giants' practice hitting every spring in the Marine training camp, but often do not hit in the regular season, except in trying to beat the ball to first and not as a sacrifice to advance a runner.

It cannot be denied that the Giants' games are more spectacular than those of any other team in the league. To mix things up, though keeps the other fellows guessing as to what McGraw is up to.

A slugging start is always discouraged to opponents, but if one run is scored in the first inning, the team is trying for just that would be the better plan. Safety first goes in baseball as in every other game.

Holke Slow.
One slow thinking player is liable to disrupt the team of any team. Walter Holke, the Giants' first baseman, is not active minded. He is phlegmatic to a degree in hitting around. In the hotel corridors he lies back in his chair and plays the pipe. He can do things mechanically all right and at times shows flashes of really surprising speed, but he is forced to exert his mental abilities he is frequently lost.

That was the case in the Giants' day's game and will always be so with him, unless he blunders when the right thing is to do.

Walter is not a poor first baseman, but he would be a much better one if he would only try to correct his blunders. But it is a habit with him. He makes the same kind of mistakes on the field as he does in the hotel. His opinion will result in "Joe" Rodriguez spreading him permanently at the first base position.

Caddock Defeats Title Contender

Des Moines, Iowa, April 12.—Sergeant Caddock, a boxer of considerable ability, dropped in among the prize of Covington, Ky. He first appeared in a preliminary match at one of the smaller clubs and won his bout. There was nothing particularly remarkable about the fight, but he did win.

It was a much more respectable fight than the one he had with the Covington and Cincinnati clubs, when another element of the about the same weight, began to shine over in Cincinnati. Like Allison, he had won several bouts. He fought under the name of Tommy Dugan.

Where They Do It.
During the winter of 1917 Kid Allison, a boxer of considerable ability, dropped in among the prize of Covington, Ky. He first appeared in a preliminary match at one of the smaller clubs and won his bout. There was nothing particularly remarkable about the fight, but he did win.
